Annex Hearing Monday

The first hearing in the proposed Bayshore City annexation will be held this Monday at 8 p.m. in the Daly City city council chambers, 75 Wellington avenue.

If there are not sufficient protests to defeat the annexation, then the council must immediately call for an annexation vote.

A protest hearing is tentatively scheduled for May. The election in Bayshore City will be due in July. There will be no election in Daly City.

Daly City plans to annex some 400 acres of Bayshore City.

The area contains between $4½ to $5 million in assessed valuation, plus potential industrial land.

There are over 55 businesses in the area which Daly City wants to annex with a total sales tax value of $80,000 annually.

Bayshore City petitioned to annex to Daly City following moves by the City of Brisbane to annex some 15 square miles of industrial land, including parts of Bayshore City.

Members of the Bayshore City Citizens' Committee and Bayshore City Sanitary District legally protested the move, which they said would raise their taxes.

Bayshore citizens are currently paying taxes to the Bayshore City Sanitary District and Fire District. They said the merger of Brisbane with industrial properties on their west would take away valuable tax-paying properties and increase their own taxes.

This precipitated the move on the part of Bayshore to annex to Daly City.

Consumer Study

Most Spending is For Food, Cars, Locally

(Special to the Record)

NEW YORK, April 17—How are Daly City residents spending their money these days? What part of it is going for the standbys, such as food, clothing, automobiles and household operation? What changes are taking place in local buying preferences?

The reports point to definite shifts in consumer tastes. As a result, some of the products that were popular yesterday have given away to new ones. Flashy cars with big fins and powerful engines, for example, have been displaced by simpler models that feature economy of operation.

On the other hand, greater emphasis is being placed on personal services, education, recreation and travel.

The facts and figures are brought out in the new consumer market study released by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It details, for communities all over the country, just how the local retail dollar was apportioned in the past fiscal year.

A breakdown of the spending pattern in Daly City shows that retail business was good for most types of merchandise, despite the unusual amount of unemployment.

Purchases of food and of automotive equipment and supplies attracted a major part of the consumer dollar locally. They accounted for 67 per cent of all retail spending.

Sales of these products in the year amounted to $38,104,000, compared with the previous year's $36,426,000.

Stores selling food for home consumption garnered $14,696,000 of the total.

Another $19,651,000 went for purchases of cars, boats, motorcycles and other automotive equipment.

Expenditures in gas service stations came to $3,757,000.

The volume of business reported for other principal retail categories was: general merchandise establishments, $2,989,000; apparel shops, $2,146,000; home furnishings, $1,895,000, and drugs $1,537,000.

All told, store sales locally in the fiscal year ending July 1, 1961, reached a grand total of $57,203,000, as against the prior year's $53,522,000.

It was at the rate of $3,899 per local household, topping the $3,823 of fiscal 1960.

The best gains were made by the service-type businesses and by those catering to leisure-time activities.

Stanford Hannah Dies, 68

Stanford Hannah, career educator and retired principal of Jefferson Union High School in Daly City, died suddenly last Tuesday. He was 68.

Mr. Hannah suffered a heart attack while at a meeting of the University of California Club — one of his great retirement interests.

Crocker Lodges of Masons conducted services on Good Friday at Lasswell's, 6154 Mission street.

Born April 23, 1894, near Stanberry Missouri, he lived in Belvidere, Ill., from 1901 to 1911, Montana from 1911 to 1926 and in California since 1926.

He served overseas with the U. S. Marines in World War I, was a track star in overseas games. He won his B.S. degree at Montana State in 1922, was principal of Mendocino Union High School, 1928-30, and won his M.A. at University of California in 1930.

Hannah was high school principal at Gridley, 1930-37, superintendent of Taft Junior College and High School, 1937-44, and principal at Jefferson (Daly City) from 1944-56. Since retirement he and his

Annual Cleanup In Broadmoor

The Broadmoor Property Owners' annual clean-up drive will be held this Saturday, April 20, beginning at 4 p.m. This is free of charge to all Broadmoor home owners.

All trash must be on the curb or in driveway by Friday night. Containers should not weigh more than 50 pounds. Lumber or shrubbery should not be more than four feet in length. Dirt is not accepted.

WHICH CAME FIRST? — Wrapped in abstract thought, this young lady has clearly left the annual Daly City Easter egg hunt for contemplation of the egg in relation to metaphysical problems. The lad peering beneath the bush is doing research. The egg hunt was held last Saturday at Marchbanks Park.

Firemen in Action . . .

Plan Spring Clean-Up

By FRANK SPECHT
Battalion Chief

Each year the Fire Prevention Bureau asks the homeowners to rid their homes of all unnecessary combustible materials.

To help make this program a success, the Daly City Scavenger Company will open their dumps to all the people this service from April 22, through April 28. You will be able to to dump all of the rubbish you have around your home FREE, 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. each day.

The Fire Prevention Bureau is grateful to Mr. Serini and his company for this generous act. We feel that this can be a big step forward in making your home more fireproof.

This will mean some determination and work on your part. Here is a chance to clean your yard of bushes and old lumber, your basement of all those things you should have got rid of a long time ago, from old cans of paint you will never use to the old furniture that is just taking up space. If you have an attic perhaps there is more rubbish there. All of those things are fire hazards in your home.

Be sure to check this paper a week before clean-up week. A map will show you how to get to the dumps.

It is our sincere wish that you don't take this offer lightly. Start cleaning out your home from top to bottom, stacking all of your junk or rubbish in a pile so you can take advantage of this offer when it comes.

Make your spring clean-up program a success, it could be made into a yearly one. You will be helping your fire department, your city and your home, but mostly yourself and your family.

Fire destroys lives and property. DON'T give fire a place to breed.

Clean-Up . . . Don't Burn Up

Each year rubbish and litter cause thousands of fires resulting in untold damage and loss of life. A thorough clean-up of your home and premises, as well as your business or commercial establishment, your manufacturing plant or workshop, can help prevent such fires. At the same time make a careful check for other fire hazards.

To make your home clean-up count for fire safety, Chief J. E. Kennedy of the Daly City Fire Department offers these suggestions:

Clear out debris: Get rid of rubbish or anything you are not going to use—such as old newspapers, magazines, broken furniture and the like—that may have accumulated in the attics, closets, cellars or garages.

Clean up after painting jobs: Throw out paint and oil soaked rags or keep them in a closed metal container, since they may heat up from chemical action and burst into flames. Hang up paint soiled clothing so air can circulate around it.

Avoid using flammable liquids: Remove them from your home. A tiny flame or spark even from static electricity or from a pilot light will ignite gasoline vapor. Play safe! Do not use highly flammable or explosive fluids for dry cleaning!

Check electric appliances: See that they are in good repair and that cords are not worn or frayed. Any needed repair work, including repairs or extension of electric wiring, should be done by a qualified electrician. When buying new cords or appliances, look for the underwriters laboratories, Inc., label or marker.

Check stoves, heaters and furnaces: See that they are clean and in good condition; have needed repair work done.

Check pipes and chimneys: Have soot cleaned out of chimneys and smokepipes. Check for cracks and holes; have chimneys repaired where mortar or bricks are loose, and replace pipes if necessary.

Check your clothes drier: See that the vent, heating unit and lint trap are free of lint. Accumulation of lint anywhere in the drier may ignite from the heat. A second important safety rule: Never put anything made of foam rubber in your drier. This may

Following a talk by Flores, the club will hold nominations and election of officers for 1963-64.

Track Coach's Holdup Stems From Gambling

Compulsive gambling was blamed last week for the troubles of Kent Herkenrath, 25, track coach at Westmoor High school in Daly City, former interim track coach at College of San Mateo, and a former San Jose State track captain, who admitted to armed holdups at the Emporium stores in Hillsdale and San Jose.

Herkenrath, was arrested Tuesday by a store security officer while attempting to flee with $706.

The young athlete, on a week's vacation, walked into the cashiers' cage at the Emporium and flashed his track starter's pistol at clerk Muriel Hennine. He thurst envelopes at her which said "any warning and I'll open fire on your customers . . . co-operate and you will never see me again . . . refuse and someone's death will be on your conscience."

The clerk stuffed $706 in envelopes but secretly pushed the alarm button. As Herkenrath turned away he ran into store security officer Charles Lau. He attempted to flee but was held and gave up quickly. His gun was unloaded.

Herkenrath admitted that he was the lone gunman who walked into the Hillsdale Emporium February 9 and shortly before 12:30 p. m. escaped caped with about $800.

Highly regarded on the Westmoor campus, Herkenrath, who joined the faculty last fall, had also built up a top reputation at San Jose State and CSM. He gave his address as 2151 Sacramento street, Sacramento.

Herkenrath succumed to gambling two years ago at a card game in San Jose. He could not estimate his recent gambling losses.

Apartment Plans Ok'd In Pacifica

The Pacifica Planning Commission spent a lot of time discussing apartments Monday night.

Bernard H. Sparacio received architectural approval for a 44-unit apartment project at Skyline near Manor drive. The proposal calls for extra parking, heated pools and a putting green.

Recommended by a 4-3 vote to the city council was a proposal for a 12-unit apartment in the 400 block of Manor drive. The commissioners voting for the project, submitted by Dr. Robert A. Glasgal, felt the apartment was a desireable and economical usage for the land and that it would improve the tax rate. They said the owner had done everything possible to meet objections of residents one year ago when the application was denied by the commission.

The three who objected felt the project was spot zoning, and would increase the traf-

Local School Districts Share $50 Million

State Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (21th District) announced Monday that three school districts in San Mateo County will share in the proceeds of the $50 million in State School Building Aid Bonds sold by State Treasurer Bert A. Betts on April 10.

The districts in this area, which have current, approved apipications for state aid to construct more classrooms, are Brisbane, Jefferson and Laguna Salada Union.

"These bonds were sold at a net interest cost of 2.93 per cent," Assemblyman Ryan pointed out, "well below three per cent for the first time in five years on a major sale."

The school districts designated in this county are to get progress payments during 1963, said Assemblyman Ryan in view of time requirements for site acquisition, plans preparation, and construction. They are among 171 districts throughout the State that had one or more applications for school building aid approved by the State Allocation Board during the year, and are therefore classified as currently state-aided.

To date, said Assemblyman Ryan, the total project cost for the districts under the state program is $19,896,692, covering 30 projects. Total state aid has been $15,219,656.

The projects have involved the construction of 393 classrooms, housing 12,814 pupils.

Assemblyman Ryan also reported that Treasurer Betts sold a $50 million block of State Construction Bonds at the same time, at a rate of 2.85 per cent. Needs of the University of California and the State College system have priority for those funds.

Pacifica Grows In People and Construction

The population of Pacifica is now 25,200, according to the latest census reports.

The city is growing at the rate of 2,000 people per year. Population last year was 23,152.

Pacifica is now ranked third in San Mateo County, behind Redwood City and San Mateo in dollar value of private construction. In the first

Cancer Crusade Moves Forward With Haste

Four leaders in the 1963 Cancer Crusade are moving into high gear in Daly City today as the annual door-to-door campaign for funds and education begins.

Serving as city chairman is Mrs. John Eason of 199 Westlake avenue, with Mrs. Edward Dennis as co-chairman and Westlake co-chairmen are Mrs. Kevin D. Donovan of 84 Westfield avenue, and Mrs. Jerome Jacobs of 152 Westmoor avenue.

Mrs. Eason today made a two-fold appeal — for volunters to aid in the campaign and generous response of the public.

"The co-operation of every citizen is needed," said the veteran civic leader and longtime PTA leader, "If we are to attain our goal of $4,000 in Daly City."

Contributions, she added, go toward service of local cancer patients, essential research and public education. The country's goal is $104,920 this year.

"The only way that the people of Daly City will be asked for contributions is through a door-to-door canvass, which will also provide life saving literature on cancer's seven danger signals," according to Mrs. Eason.

The city chairman has a distinguished record of public service in Daly City. She is clerk of the Jefferson High School district board of trustees, having served since 1949. Mrs. Eason also is a member of the city's recreation commission and a past president of the Daly City Women's Civic Club and the Gen. Pershing PTA, which granted her both a California and national life membership as a tribute to her leadership.

Mrs. Eason also has served as a director of the Village Nursery School and is presently a member of the San Mateo County Salvation Army Advisory Committee and has long been active in Girl Scout work.

Mrs. Dennis, a past president of Colma PTA, is the wife of Councilman and former Mayor Edward J. Dennis, who last year served the Cancer Crusade as city chairman. She lives at 99 Teresa street.

Mrs. Donovan has another outstanding record of school service. She is now president of Benjamin Franklin Junior High's PTA in Colma and has served for seven years on the Community Profile

By JACK WOOD

"We like bathtub baritones and shower sopranos."

So sayeth Patti Stoltz, a bubbly, pleasingly plump and young gal who directs the Daly City Belle-Tones and Community Chorus.

She dropped into the office of the Westlake Times-Record to plug her organization, which meets each Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln Park club house.

Patti's organization is composed of both men and women . . . "It's a bachelor's paradise," she admitted. There are about eight men and 20 women.

"A tremendous place to go and let off steam!"

Patti's background in music is extensive. She studied voice for eight years at Washington University in St. Louis, and at Montecello College and Fontbonne College in Alton, Ill.

But she figures that her family of a boy and a girl is her greatest achievement. "My son was born on Labor Day and my daughter was born on Good Friday. Each weighed eight pounds, 12 ounces."

"I think," she gurgled, "that Art Linkletter should give me a toaster for that."

Patti's chorus now has 24 members and seven prospects. They started in November, 1961. So far, the Belle-Tones have appeared April 2 at the District Scout Appreciation dinner at Westmoor High School. They sang at the Easter fashion show at the Westlake Bowl.

The first appearance of the Community Chorus (both men and Women) will be at the Colma PTA meeting, May 23. The men have been rehearsing for the past two months . . . "saving for one big splash."

We're anxious to have talent from Daly City, Colma, Westlake and St. Francis Heights. They have to pass a simple audition. The group is sponsored by the Daly City recreation department.

"We started as a small group of PTA Mother Singers."

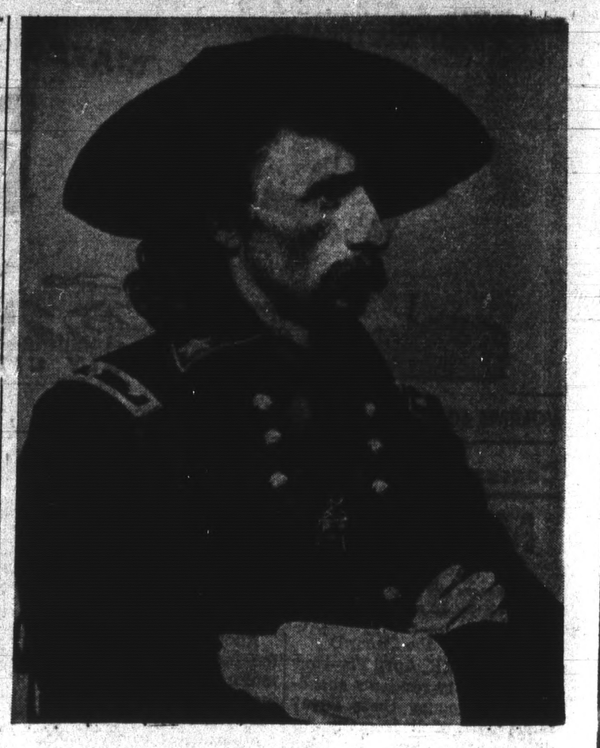
"I'm not the glamorous type," Patti admits, "but I have big ambitions."

Patti's husband is a staff accountant for the Stauffer Chemical Company and is an accomplished organist and pianist.

A versatile person, Mrs. Stoltz' other accomplishments include serving as music chairman for the CCPT and acting as recording secretary for the new George Washington PTA.

"And I cook a mean Strogonauf."

Patti has hopes for the chorus to really accomplish big things. She is planning for an organization of 50 members. Summer activities will include a picnic. Mona Baker night is scheduled for April 25.



ON DISPLAY — Portrait of Gen. George Armstrong Custer now at Colma School during Public Schools Week — April 22-26. This historic find is believed to be one of the best and most characteristic poses made of the colorful and popular young cavalryman. This was probably taken shortly before his final expedition which resulted in the famous and tragic "Custer's Last Stand." — (Ansco Historical Collection.)

COUNCIL OF WAR (Oct. 3, 1962)—Following the successful repulse of Lee's invasion of Maryland at Antietam, President Lincoln was distressed by McClellan's hesitation in exploiting his success by pursuing Lee into Virginia. When McClellan asked for more cavalry horses, Lincoln exploded, "Will you pardon me for asking what the horses of your army have done since the battle of Antietam that fatigues anything?" Finally, after more than two weeks of inaction, Lincoln went in person to insist that McClellan advance into Virginia. —By Alexander Gardner, Library of Congress)

Civil War Photos at Colma School

One of the most complete collections of Civil War photography ever shown will be displayed at Colma Intermediate School during Public Schools Week, April 22 through April 26.

The exhibit, entitled "Photography and the Civil War" was obtained from Ansco Film Company, which produces the exhibit. The exhibit contains over 100 prints depicting the Civil War, many of which were taken by the famed photo-journalist, Matthew Brady.

Matthew Brady was not the only Civil War photographer, but he did obtain the most prominence. His place in history is well deserved because few others had the foresight to realize the future value of such historic coverage. And although Brady could not have taken all of the photos attributed to him, he is largely responsible for the picture history of the Civil War as we know it today.

Many of the pictures taken by other war photographers eventually found their way into the Brady collection of war negatives, for he had made it his duty to attempt to make a pictorial recording of the happenings of this war. The entire collection of Civil War photos, including those taken by Brady, numbers over 7,000, all of which are true masterpieces of photo-journalism that has only recently been equalled. The exhibit at Colma School will not include the complete collection, but only a small portion.

Though the majority of the pictures in the exhibit depict war scenes there are a series of rare portrait photos that were taken by Brady. Among these are pictures of Lincoln and Generals Lee, Sherman, Grant and the famed Indian fighter George Armstrong Custer.

The collection, which is 125 feet long includes such scenes as Richmond in ruins; the outer trenches at Fort Gregg and a burial truce at Fredericksburg.

Ansco Film Company of New York has loaned the exhibit, and has also compiled the prints for the exhibit, which is owned by the film company. During the Civil War most of the photographic supplies were supplied by Anthony Company, out of which the modern day Ansco Company grew.

For more than 100 years Ansco has had a part in the historical development of our country. The exhibit, "Photography and the Civil War" was arranged in recognition of the Centennial of the Civil War and is a tribute not only to Matthew Brady but to all those early photo-journalists who pointed the way to today's news picture coverage.

The exhibit will be on display all during Public Schools Week and until the second week in May. The exhibit will be open to the public during April 22-26; after that time other schools in the area will be allowed to see this rare and historic exhibit.

36 Prizes Are Won By Egg-Hunting Kids

The Easter Bunny held back the rains last Saturday long enough for the Daly City recreation department to hold Easter Egg hunts throughout the city. This year children had 12 sites throughout the community to seek the symbols of Easter.

Helping to make the hunts successful this year were members of the Daly City Belle-Tones, Girl Scouts, PTA members, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Hi Fi Teen Club.

The Hi Fi Teen Club provided the prizes for the children finding the treasure eggs.

With the increase of sites, the teenagers provided 36 prizes for the children. The Girl Scouts wrapped more than 15,000 egs in cellophone bags. The Daly City Belle-Tones, various PTA members, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce helped with the supervision of the events.

Thousands of children swarmed over the sites at the signal to gather Easter eggs. Eleven of the hunts went off very well, but unfortunately at one end of the sites, George Washington School, the children broke before the signal and deprived some youngsters of the chance of gathering the eggs.

The finders of the prize eggs whose names were available at press time were:

Marchbanks Park — David Loughlin, Kevin Buckley, Gary Koopman.

Colma School—Donna Tiedje, Carol Lamp, Steve Rolling.

M. Pauline Brown School—Terry Fitzgerald and Fred Garcia.

INTO THE BUSHES go the children at the annual Easter Egg Hunt at Marchbanks Park last Saturday. The event drew a huge crowd. In the words of photographer Nick Nicholson, "there were kids all over the place."

3 Pacificans Held for Burglary Spree

Three young Pacifica men are in custody today facing two charges of burglary in Half Moon Bay last Wednesday night. The arrests followed investigation into the burglaries of Blake's Coffee Shop and Jack's Mercantile store in Half Moon Bay in which liquor, cigarettes and cash were taken and resulted from combined efforts of the Half Moon Bay and Pacifica police departments.

A 16-year-old boy was arrested in a Pacifica theater by officer Paul Averiett of Pacifica and by Sgt. Fred Ceranski of Half Moon Bay. He previously had served time with the California Youth Authority.

Pacifica officers Edward Ulrich and Ray Karcezwsky nabbed Richard Earle Witzel, 24, of 716 Alta Vista, near his home and his 17-year-old companion near Linda Mar boulevard. Witzel recently was released from the county jail after serving nine months for burglary.

Half Moon Bay Police Chief Don Pearman said that after the burglaries a bulletin was put out and Officer Averiett said he suspected the trio might have been responsible. Fingerprints were found at the scene of the crime and the 16-year-old was picked up. He supplied the names of his two companions. Liquor and cigarette loot was recovered. Police established that the three men were in Half Moon Bay Wednesday night.

Pacifica police kept an eye on the homes and known hangouts of the other two, with the result that they were arrested today. They offered no resistance.

PANELISTS—The topic "American—Here and Now as painted by our press" will be discussed at a Friends of the Daly City Library book review April 24 at the Westlake Library, 275 Southgate avenue, 8 p.m. Panelists (from left) Mrs. Dan Dawson, principal Fernando Rivera school; Homer C. Councilman Harold Feyge was elected to his second term as mayor of Pacifica April 10.

Feyge, who previously served as mayor two years ago, has served as either mayor vice mayor every year except one since the city was incorporated almost six years ago.

Cub Scouts Enter Pets in Walk-A-Zoo

Arthur Beighley and Brooke Kofford, both from Den 3, represented Cub Pack 182 at the Northern District Walk-A-Zoo held Saturday, March 30, in South San Francisco.

The Walk-A-Zoo is a pet show and parade for Cubs and their favorite animal friend. There were seven separate Walk-A-Zoos held simultaneously, one in each district of the San Mateo County Scout Council.

Arthur entered his white rat, "Mike," and Brooke his three turtles, "Red," "Yellow" and "Pokey." Each entry happened to be the only one of its kind, and both boys received a blue ribbon, a certificate of participation and a Cub Scout drinking cup.

A good time was had by all, and the boys are looking forward to the event next year. The pets were not available for comment.

Ingleside Terrace Homes Assn. Meeting

N. Harris Ades, president of Ingleside Terrace Homes Association, has announced a meeting of the board of directors for April 18 at 8 p.m. at 21 Urbano Drive.

Mr. Ades said that many items of interest to the residents of the Terraces will be discussed including the Association's recent success in ridding the Terraces of a rooming house on Lunado Way. The owner of the property was fined $500 and enjoined from further renting. Other cases are pending and will also be discussed.

Mr. Ades also urges all residents not to park their autos on the street on sweeping day, which is Friday in the Terraces. The streets cannot be properly cleaned when parked autos abound to such an extent as to impede the progress of the sweeper. Residents are therefore asked to protect their health and the cleanliness of the neighborhood by having their autos absent from the scene on Fridays.

Freeway Bids Open May 8

Pacifica Freeway bids will be opened for the second time in Sacramento on May 8, 1963, for a project to construct 3.2 miles of freeway along State Sign Route 1, Cabrillo Highway, from the Edgemar Expressway, 0.4 mile north of Manor drive to 3.3 miles southerly of Pacifica. All bids received on October 24, 1962, were rejected and the project has been re-advertised.

The proposed contract includes construction of interchanges at Sharp Park road, Clarendon-Paloma avenue and Milagra-Monterey road. A pedestrian undercrossing at Ridgeway-Fairway drive in the vicinity of the Sharp Park Golf Course and a pedestrian overcrossing at Milagra drive, as well as frontage roads for the business districts of Edgemar and Sharp Park, will be constructed also.

$4,055,000 has been budgeted by the California Highway Commission for the project, which is expected to require a total of 250 working days, making completion about midsummer of 1964. The City of Pacifica is adding $10,000 to the project as their share of a co-operative drainage improvement to be accomplished along with the freeway construction work.

OLPH Teen Fashion Show

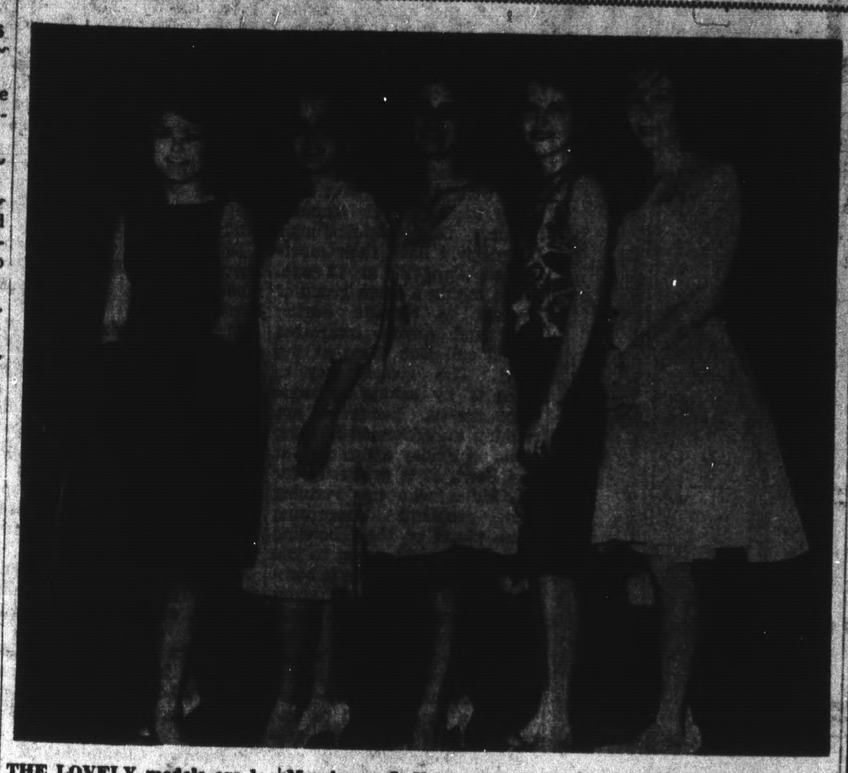
TEEN NEWS



THE LOVELY models are local teen club members Karen Manning, Sharon Killin, Gloria Morrissey, LaVonne and LaVerne Carter, Kathy and Elise Downey, Cindy Travinsky and Corrine, Karen and Carol Ford.

Junior Teen Leaders Guest of Hi-Fi Club

Members of the newly elected executive councils of the junior high teen clubs, meeting west of Junipero Serra clubhouse — Telstars, Roof Raisers and Westlake Swingers — were the recent guests of the Hi Fi (high school) Teen Club's executive council at the latter's meeting Monday night at the Westlake Park clubhouse.

These council members were invited to give them some ideas on how the operation and development of teen club activities is handled.

They observed the high school club's council in action, discussing and planning the future activities of their organization and the rules and regulations governing their operation.

A Fullsome Month at Broadmoor Teen Club

The month of March has really been one full of enjoyable moments for the Westlake Broadmoor Teen Club.

It all started on March 18 after a meeting of the teen club in which "The Highlights of the '62 World Series Game" and free cokes were presented through the courtesy of the Coca Cola Company representative Mr. Graham. The film was enjoyed by everyone and Mr. Graham was gratefully thanked.

Next on the agenda was a snow trip consisting of four adults and thirty teenagers to Heavenly Valley via chartered Greyhound bus on March 23.

The cost of the trip was provided by the teenagers themselves by performing various money raising activities through the year such as car washes, variety shows, items sold at Christmas, and many others. The teenagers chose many different activities on the snow trip like: bravely getting on skis, throwing snow balls, filling themselves with food, or getting cozy by a nice warm fire. Some of the teen members' friends enjoyed the snow trip and the company of the other teenagers so much that they joined the teen club. Altogether it was a day of fun and thrills.

To end the month with even more excitement a Mother and Daughter Fashion Show was held by the teen club on March 25 at the Westlake Bowl. It was narrated by Robin Kearney, and employees of The Fashion. Besides being kind enough to show a few of their new styles; The Fashion also donated a ten dollar merchandise order as a door prize.

City-Wide Junior High Dance Slated

"Dance Where Ya Wana" will be the theme of the first city-wide junior high dance, to be held Saturday, May 18, from 7 to 10 p. m. in the War Memorial Building.

Under sponsorship of the Daly City recreation department and being planned by a committee representing the six junior high teen clubs now in operation, this gala event will be open to all junior teen club members and their guests.

Price of admission will be 50 cents for members and 75 cents for guests.

The evening will feature a top KYA disc jockey and will be highlighted with an intra-club contest. Each of the teen clubs will compete in five categories towards winning the perpetual trophy as the year's "top" junior high teen club. The categories involved include ticket sales, talent contest, dance contest, king and queen (personality contest) and decorations. In the latter contest, each club will decorate a different part of the War Memorial Community Center, according to their phase of the theme.

Community celebrities and experts will be asked to serve as judges for these contests.

Ticket sales for this event will open April 26 at each junior teen club and will continue through to the dance.

"Career Day is certainly the most important thing in the vocational counceling department," stated Mrs. Donald O. Kistner, vocational counselor.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

Handicap league bowlers moved to the front Wednesday night, as Joe Crowley topped the 99'ers Mixed Fives with a 220 game and 625 series while Tom McCue led the Sleepers Handicap with 226 and 623.

Roberta Perry took top honors in both departments of the St. Emydius Mothers' Guild League Tuesday morning as she shot a 174 game and 478 series. Converting splits presented no problem for Edna Lauro, 5-10, Eloise Ruggeri, 5-6-7, Shirley Smyth, 5-6-10, and Rose Pacini, 5-6-10.

The Country Club Handicap found Bob Habib leading the way with a 210 game and 579 series.

Westlake Bowlers are actively supporting the current "King and Queen of Bowling" popularity contest now being sponsored by the San Francisco Bowling Propietors Association and the San Francisco Examiner.

In the Wednesday morning A-1 Nursery Men's League, Mike Assad led the parade with a 206 game and 596 series.

A big 245 game by Tom Mashburn led the Southwest Handicap League last Thursday. Tom posted a 245 game on his way to the league leading series.

Charles Donn was the high roller in the Lake Merced Handicap with a 221 game and 591 series.

First prize of $150 went to Tim Dunn in the first Weekend Gold Coast Sweeper as he led the field of sixteen bowlers averaging over the 200 mark for the six game match. This Friday night feature will continue at 11:30 p. m. weekly until May 31. Limited to sixteen bowlers with averages of 180 and over, it has caught the interest of the high average bowlers of the area.

The Junior Easter Tournament continues to bring the better junior bowlers of the state to the Bay Area. Last Monday and Tuesday the team from Dutch Village Bowl in Los Angeles visited Westlake and made a lasting impression on the standings list.

Pins were flying like jets Tuesday night as Dave Egigian led the Petersen Point Singles with a tremendous 707 series. Carrying a 178 current average, Dave put together games of 232-275-200 to set a new record in the league.

Donna Ravetti won dual honors last Tuesday morning as she led the league with a high game of 185 and then was elected president of the league for the coming season. Other officers elected are Bette Levesque, vice president, Pat Garcia, secretary, Iris Nolli, treasurer and Angie Cestone, sergeant at arms.

This is "Welcome Navy" week as almost 200 bowlers from the Twelfth Naval District will be on hand Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons competing for spots in the Western Regionals at San Diego and All Navy in Little Creek, Virginia.

Four more bowlers qualified for the Westlake Rolloff in the current Gold Coast Classic as Larry Charon, Henry Dosdorian, Art Krause and Rich Hottal took the top spots in their classes in the weekly rolloff. Eldon Henshaw and Ken Waite led their division to win paid entries in the Westlake Rolloffs. This handicap tournament which runs until total prize fund approaching June 2 promises to have a $50,000 at the current rate bowlers are participating.

SEA BOWL NEWS

The past week end has seen some of the highest scoring ever in Sea Bowl. The scores were all made during the handicap tournament for the Men's Division of the Pacifica Championships and will be completely given in this column next week.

The Junior League Trio will have their meeting next Saturday to form their summer league. Our Adult-Junior League will have their meeting on April 27 at 11 a.m. We're taking a large group of bowlers to Nevada during May and anyone interested should call Bob West at the Bowl. The easiest way to learn is by asking someone who knows, hence we are running an advanced bowling clinic on Friday afternoons at Sea Bowl. It is primarily for the ladies who are running into problems concerning some phase of their bowling game and we urge you to join the group if something is bothering you regarding spare shooting or timing etc. Summer leagues are fast filling and three of them are starting this week. If you are not in on this summer's fun—bowling in a league—call us and we will take pleasure in seeing you are placed with people you like and who enjoy bowling.

Moonlite Scotch doubles winners this week were John Lew and Jane Carver with a nice 608. They were closely followed by Dick Smith and Patricia Nurney.

Now for a review of last week's bowling:

Rams Win, Tie; Place Seventh

The Rams played two full games against St. Ignatius, and never decided anything, playing to a 2-2 tie in 14 innings.

Even more frustrating was the fact that the Rams scored all of their runs in the first inning, and then hung on for 13 scoreless sessions before darkness called a halt to the game.

Westmoor discovered a fine pitcher in a junior, Davis, who chucked 6 1/3 innings and allowed no earned runs over the route. Bruce Hix pitched the rest of the way, allowing no runs, while collecting one hit in three official trips.

In the final day of action, Westmoor had another game called on time, having only enough to beat San Mateo, 15-0.

Colts Clipped In Last Inning

El Camino's own field ruined their chances to continue to play the role of spoiler last Wednesday as Balboa found the short center field fence to their liking, as the Balboa centerfielder drove a line drive over the wall with one on, to lear 2-0 in the first inning. The city crowd went on to win it, 3-2, with a run in the bottom of the last inning.

El Camino's two runs came in the second and sixth innings. The first tally followed singles by Tyler and Westmoreland, with an error scoring Tyler from third.

The final Colt score was a Walt Harris home run over the left field fence.

Three Hurt in SSF Mishaps

Three persons were injured in weekend accidents in South San Francisco police there reported this morning.

Iris Lorene Daughter, 17, 1317 South Norfolk avenue, San Mateo, was injured when autos driven by Wayne G. Barni, 19, a service station attendant of 1317 South Norfolk avenue, San Mateo, and Warren S. Hicks, 66, a retired plasterer of 147 Dundee drive, South San Francisco, collided on El Camino Real at Camaritas avenue yesterday afternoon.

Lorenz A. Buttelmann, 59, a banker, 17 Tunitas lane, South San Francisco, and John Dale Lang, 41, a carpenter, 356 Alta Mesa drive, South San Francisco, were hurt when their autos collided on Arroyo drive west of Camaritas avenue.

Warrior Team Displays Good Hitting Power

The North Peninsula League had four teams in the South San Francisco baseball tourney last week — South City with a 2-1 record, Westmoor with a 1-1-1 record, El Camino with a record of 1-2, and Bruce Hix with an incredible record.

South City, in defeating Saint Ignatius, the San Francisco powerhouse, has cemented an already strong claim to NPL favorite.

Authenticating that claim is an infield that came up with five double plays in three games and an attack that came up with an average of eight hits per game. The Warrior nine also boasts two pitchers that could well be the class of the league in Olivera and Wickersham.

South City's hitting power appears to fill half the lineup with five batters hitting over .300 for the tournament.

At the top of the heap is Sam Pretari, who went 4-8, picking up two RBI's. Crows and McNevin both hit 3 for 8 while Montalvo and Simi hit .333 in nine trips.

Gary Montalvo led the Warrior RBI parade with six; Niel McNevin batting three tallies across while Dave Simi and Crowe pushed one run across. All this was good enough to drop San Mateo, 11-3, and St. Ignatius, 5-2.

El Camino was good enough to beat SSF, however, and the Colts meet the Warriors on their own grounds for the first game of the NPL season.

The Colts have been picked as spoilers, and with the same hustle are capable of a repeat win.

The Westmoor Rams, whose record was better than El Camino's but whose position was lower due to the vagaries of tourney rules, came up with a hidden team play. The team played at third, most of the time. For seven and two-third innings the team pitched SI into frustration, giving up nary a run. The team hit "rather well" as Coach Losberger suggested, with two singles, two doubles and two home runs in ten trips to the plate. Nine RBI's were accounted for in this effort.

On top of these facts, Bruno Hix can also spell team...which does not upset Rod Losberger and neither does the fact that he is a junior. Payette and Contreras got into the power act, collecting four and three hits, respectively, in 11 trips to the plate.

The biggest problem the Rams experienced was the sudden knack in commiting errors, booting six plays in the first game, their only loss in the tourney, committing five more errors in the next two games. This series was a reversal of form for the Rams who had explained hitting problems, and few defensive weaknesses.

The Rams will be facing the real unknown quantity of the league at Oceana on Friday. The following week looms as the real test for the Rams, however, as they meet Jefferson on Wednesday and South City on April 26.

Jeff will meet Terra Nova for their opener at the Tiger field.

OLM COACH HONORED — Bud Nelson (r), Our Lady of Mercy Youth Program basketball coach, holds a special plaque noting his singular success in guiding the Parish's 8th-grade teams to victory in four consecutive Tournaments sponsored by Daly City's Marian Council No. 3773 of the Knights of Columbus. In the center of the picture are two of the team trophies garnered by Bud's latest team in the 1963 edition of the annual Tournament held at the Daly City Memorial Gym in March. Bob Simon (at the microphone) presented the plaque and team awards to Bud in behalf of Marian Council at the April meeting of the OLM Men's Club.

Rams Putt Cap; Place At Fresno

The Ram golf team remained undefeated after their match with Capuchino, winning 17-4. Jim Fair led the way with a 76; Dennis Mori followed with a 78 carding.

Both of these golfers entered the Fresno tourney held during the Easter vacation. The Fresno match which draws several hundred young amateurs from all of California is a four round tournament with each round played on a different course.

Jim Fair took second honors in this Junior tourney, shooting a 291. Dennis Mori took the number 12 spot with a 302 for the 72 holes.

The Westmoor team will face Terra Nova in the last match of the first round before opposing the very powerful Lincoln squad. This team boasts two of the top amateurs in the bay area in John Miller and Bobby Lund, the latter being highly touted as one of the best in many years.

Only 556 acres of Pinot Noir grape, the leading wine grape of the Burgundy region of France, were growing in California in 1961.

Squaw Scene Revisited

'Ski King' in Action

By Jack Wood

The slope which I had traversed the past season was blocked off and only two windswept trails led down the frightening chutes called KT-22 at Squaw Valley.

It was then that the old joke came back to me. The old saying that KT-22 meant the number of persons killed going down the slope...or the number of times a person falls before he reaches the bottom.

After falling down my seventh time I stood and peered down the valley, assuming a stance much like "Snoopy" ready to pounce.

My nerve had failed. I whimpered slightly as I surveyed the number of gulleys and ravines I had to travel before I reached the bottom.

I adjusted my parka, motioned to my brother that the trail was bumpy.

He nodded his head sagely. "Yes, Ski King," he said. "Looks like Tarawa."

The entire hill appeared as if someone had blown holes in it with land mines, and then the U. S. Marines had dug foxholes, and waged a pitched battle...all this on an incline of 90 degrees.

My mind raced as I thought back on the past season when my brother had talked me into going down KT-22 the first time.

We had talked it over while drinking beer in a rustic Squaw Lodge and I had made a bet, after imbibing my third pitcher, that I could beat him and his friend down this venerable mountain, with minutes to spare.

I had made it, but not as a winner, not in the least, and when I hit the bottom, I resembled a snowman.

There was no way out now. I had lost my chance when I failed to take the lift back from the top. It would have been cowardly, but I would have been a live coward, not a dead Ski King.

It was then that I got the idea to roll myself into a snowball and coast, as a frosty sphere, to the bottom.

But my brother hailed me out of my trance. "Is you ready, Ski King?", he shouted...and was off in a cloud of snow. Two little girls nudged me from behind with their sharply pointed skis.

This gave me the impetus to half ski to the bottom.

I compromised and rolled only half the way down.

Later in the Village beer hall, I contemplated the events of the day as I peered deeply into a stein of beer.

This, I concluded, is the ONLY way to ski.

Like that up and down stuff is bugsville.

Pastors In Dialogue At Temple Baptist Evening Service

The three pastors serving the Temple Baptist Church will enter into dialogue to answer the question: "What is essential to human life, and how is it obtained?" The program will be in series for five weeks, beginning Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the church, 3355 19th avenue in Stonestown.

The Rev. Magnus G. Berglund is senior pastor of the church, having served there since 1943. The Rev. Alexander Caspar is minister to students, and is a student himself at Berkeley Divinity School. He is a Canadian, from Toronto, in his second year of studies at Berkeley, and second year as a leader of the youth program directed toward San Francisco State College, particularly. The Rev. William C. Rogers is minister of Christian Education with seven years pastoral experience.

The three men will examine what is necessary for such person to fully realize human life, and seek to present how each person might be able to more completely realize the potential which is his. Audience participation will be invited, and the pastors will accept challenges to their own convictions, and seek to establish consensus among their various personal convictions and experiences. The public is cordially invited.

Serra Bowl News

By far the biggest news in Serra bowling last week was the topflite shooting by Betty Fontana in the Thursday afternoon Domestic Engineers League. Betty led her Fontana & Son team to a three-game sweep over team No. 9, bowling games of 255, 146 and 246 for a terrific 647 series.

The big win on team games of 654, 618 and 628 (a 1990 total) clinched first place for the Fontana's, closing out the Nick's B. & N. Nursery foursome by a least a half game. With only one week to go, Nick's will place second by at least a half game over the REM gals with the next seven teams separated by only 2½ games.

This is the type of competition that has the girls straining at the leash to get on the lanes with their summer schedule. Any girl wishing to join in the fun may do so by simply calling WYman 2-3444 and saying: "Yes, I want to bowl in a summer league."

In the most recent Metro Masters action the Serra Bowl squad swept three games from a lagging Murray Amusement Company team. Ernie Cool tallied a high 219-591 series for Serra, while Rich Corson led the losers with a 542 three-some.

In the Pots & Pans loop, Lee Stevens tossed a classy 213-615 series as his Wheels team rolled over the S.O.S. five for a two-one win. Rex Golobic led the latter gang with a 213-608 effort.

Cliff Owens, bowling for the Spenser Buick team, set the lanes afire in the Automotive League last week. Pounding out a 236-604 series. Cliff paced the boys in a two-one win over Harris Brothers.

Friar Fred's Hints for Better Bowling:

The Straight Ball — If you are a beginner bowler who still needs work on the bowling approach and delivery, the straight ball aimed directly at the 1-3 pocket is strongly recommended.

This is the easiest manner of throwing to master and is the basis of learning to deliver the higher scoring hook ball. In the straight ball delivery, the thumb should always be at the 12 o'clock position — the point nearest the pins.

The wrist must be held straight and firm. The ball should remain in this position throughout the approach, arm swing and follow-through with no shift or twist of the wrist. The ball rolls smoothly off the fingers and down the lane with very little lift required.

Navy Keglers To Invade Westlake Bowl

Almost 200 Navy bowlers will invade Westlake Bowl on Wednesday, April 17, for the annual Twelfth Naval District tournament. Included in the entry list is a total of 68 Waves and nurses.

Leading the parade is Harley Hull from the Naval Air Station at Alameda, who posted series of 707 and 721 in the Castro Valley 910 Classic during the current season.

Rube Knop, who holds a 650 series in the same league, is another entrant in the tournament. Returning to defend his title is Dick Majors from Moffat Field Naval Air Station, last year's winner.

The fair sex entrants are led by Rosie Stewart, who currently holds a 223 high game and 592 series in the Twelfth Naval District Travel League.

After the opening ceremonies at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday, the entrants will roll six games each day for the three-day period. The top bowlers in each division for the 18-game total will move on to the West Coast Regional in San Diego from where the Pacific Coast entries will be selected for the All-Navy finals in Little Creek, Va.

Vandals Smash School Windows

Vandals broke into the Woodrow Wilson Elementary school at Daly City over the weekend, smashed windows, and scattered papers around, school officials reported to police.

Large windows in three classrooms, and a small window in a fourth were broken. In addition, the vandals rifled the desks of four teachers. Officials said apparently nothing of value was stolen.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Westlake Times,
San Jose avenue,
Daly City, California.
Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Daly City Public Library Commission, I want to thank you and Mrs. Bunny Gillespie for the article entitled "Library Legislators Like Lots of Letters."

The Library Commission wholeheartedly supports AB-590. We have communicated this fact to the Legislators from San Mateo County. To assist in securing the bill's passage, the commission is working with the California Citizens for Better Libraries. Some of the commission members are members of C.L.A. committees that are spending their efforts towards this end.

We have instructed the City Librarian to work with other library officials in the area on master plans for cooperation that may be implemented when AB 590 passes, recently he presented for our study a tentative plan for San Mateo County.

Surely articles like Mrs. Gillespie's assist in the endeavor to bring better services to the people of California.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Andrew Hanselman,
Chairman, Daly City
Public Library Commission.

Daly City, California
Letters to the Editor:

The State Board of Education's proposed revision of the state teaching credential code has identified certain subjects and the teachers of these subjects (Home Economics, Business Education, Industrial Arts, etc.) as being second class. This would be an unhealthy change of direction for our public schools. Second class subject matter taught by second class teachers must be for second class students. Our schools have a tradition of promoting free and equal opportunity for all students. The State Board's proposal is contrary to the best interests of all the people's children.

Sincerely,
B. L. Taylor

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

From A Feminine Viewpoint...

By Mona Baker

One of the most active groups in the YWCA program has been the Y-Wives. A number of years ago, the "Y" discovered that there were many young women at home who were anxious to attend classes, listen to speakers and meet new friends but because they had small children could not participate in these activities. The "Y" introduced the Y-Wives program, where young mothers could meet for stimulating discussions and classes while small children were taken care of in the nursery. Throughout the years both nationally and in the Bay Area, the Y-Wives group has been one of the fastest growing in the "Y" program.

There is a local Y-Wives group in Daly City, which has been organized for about a year and a half and a new group has just been started in Pacifica.

The Daly City group meets every Monday morning. Their program has been varied, ranging from current event discussions to charm. Planned for the coming meetings is a talk on the summer recreation program by Chuck Vincent, and the following Monday Lavina Scott will speak on how to cover shoes to match your costume.

Officers of the Daly City Y-Wives include Norma Washford, president; Elsie Dab, secretary; Antionette Herson, publicity chairman, and Mary DeWitt, hospitality chairman. The Y-Wives groups welcome new members. If you are interested in either the Pacifica or Daly City group, telephone PL 6-7370 for more information.

"There are so many more women who have given so much more time than I have," modestly protested our community leader of the week. Yet ever since coming to this area approximately seven years ago, she has participated in many community activities.

She has been a leader of a Brownie troop and for two years served on the north district Girl Scouts committee who organized the "Scouts in Action" program at the Daly City Memorial Building. Prior to coming to Daly City, she served on both the local and regional PTA board in Temple City.

Active in St. Martin's Episcopal Church, she has just been elected president of the Episcopal Church Women for the coming year. She is also a member of the Parents Club of the Rainbow Girls and the Daly City Friends of the Library.

We salute Merle Josselyn as community leader of the week. The Josselyn family, husband Winsor, and daughter, Trudy, live at 95 Lake Meadow in Westlake.

SOCIAL WHIRL: Highlighting the social scene was the recent champagne reception hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Edward Macklin at their Garden Village home in honor of their daughter, Kathleen, and new son-in-law, Myler Moore. The young couple were married on February 16 at Park Wedding Chapel in Reno. Spring blossoms graced a table with a beautifully decorated wedding cake. Among the almost one hundred guests were high school and college friends of the bride and groom as well as Coast Guard friends of the groom. In addition there were many out-of-town guests including Mr. and Mrs. Myler Moore Sr. from San Jose, Mrs. Suzanne Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stockton from Vallejo, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rubel from Santa Marie, Mrs. Robert Carter from Boston, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hugh from Vallejo.

Recently elected are officers of the newly formed Episcopal Church Women group of St. Martin's. They include Merle Josselyn, president; Margaret Morse, vice president; Helen Specht, secretary-treasurer. Monthly meetings will alternate between day and evening with the next meeting scheduled for May 20.

"The College Woman's Return to Campus" will be discussed by a distinguished panel of educators and graduate students before the San Francisco Branch of the American Association of University Women on Saturday, April 20 at 2 p.m.

"There is a growing concern throughout the United States," says Miss Hepper, "regarding the unfinished business of continuing education for women."

"The magazine writers tell us that the mature woman with family raised and time on her hands, is frustrated. The manpower experts tell us she is needed. But can she, with her college education fourteen years behind her find a job where her intelligence and education will really be utilized? And what of the young mothers immersed in family responsibilities? Are the colleges tailoring programs to fit their needs?"

These and other important questions pertaining to the college woman's role in American life will be put before the panel.

Miss Hepper, moderator, has just returned from a session at the Shakespeare Institute Stratford on Avon England where she was one of eighty participants selected world-wide. She is now taking graduate studies in the teaching of English as a foreign language at S. F. State College.

Interested college graduates are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zens

Afternoon Wedding For The William Zens

An afternoon wedding at 2 p.m., March 17, at Our Lady of Mercy Church joined Irene Louise Palmini of Westlake and Lawrence William Zens, a career man of the United States Coastguard, in marriage.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Palmini, 986 Wildwood Avenue, Daly City, was given in marriage by her father. Reverend Timothy Monahan officiated at the ceremony with Philip J. Fraher, Jr. and Daniel P. Desmond, Jr., two close friends of the bride's brother serving as altar boys during the ceremony.

For her wedding Irene chose a white satin brocade material and made the simply styled full-length gown with bridal point sleeves and chapel length train. Her veil of illusion edged with lace was held in place with a crown of pearls and crystal drops. She carried a bouquet of butterfly orchids and maidenhair fern.

Attending the bride were Marilyn Kane as maid of honor and Virginia Keenan and Elaine Jordan as bridesmaids. With the wedding date being March 17 they decided to honor St. Patrick wearing gowns of emerald green, carrying nosegays of white carnations accented with small pink rosebuds.

Charles Whelan served as best man with ushers Richard Palmini, younger brother of the bride, and William Cline.

Receiving guests at Forest Lodge in San Francisco after the ceremony the bride's mother wore an aqua blue sheath gown with small jacket and a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids. The groom's mother wore a beige sheath with matching coat and a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

The newly married couple with their respective parents formed a receiving line where they greeted over two hundred guests. A three-tiered wedding cake, champagne and hors d'oeuvers were served. Dancing was enjoyed by all following the formalities.

Irene attended Mercy High School of San Francisco and upon graduation in June 1958 entered City College of San Francisco. She served as president of Zeta Chi Sorority during her college days. After graduating as a Dental Assistant she entered the employ of Drs. John and Michael Sapone of San Francisco where she has been working for the past two and a half years.

Lawrence graduated from Mt. Whitney High School of Visalia, California. He enlisted shortly afterwards in the service of the United States Coastguard. He decided upon a career in the service after completion of his first enlistment.

Irene wore a two piece pink wool suit with white flowered hat and white fur muff as her going away outfit.

Hints To Expedite Easter Egg Eating

By Bunny Gillespie

Eggs being what they are, they seem to fall (gently) into the "like 'em or leave 'em" category in most households.

Only the parent fowl seems NOT to have freedom of choice as to their use or disposition.

We grant that the egg situation is not of constant concern, but this week things are different. It's the week after Easter and what have you got? Probably, if you're truely representative of the American family scene, you have a collection of gay greeting cards, assorted candy items and too, too many hard-boiled eggs—blue, pink, purple, yellow and green ones.

All of which places Mrs. Housewife in the position of attempting to "use up" the hard-cooked hen products before spoilage remidies her overage of egg problem.

Because eggs, and the eating of them, have such a respected place in family nutrition, we wish to share with you a few of our favorite recipes for left-over-from-Easter-hard-boiled-eggs. These are from the writer's collection of somewhat dated recipes. They're from the Washburn-Crosby Co. Gold Medal Cook Book, distributed to users of the firm's flour in 1910!

Looking forward to the picnic season, may we suggest:

PICKLED EGGS
6 hard-boiled eggs, without shells
2 cups vinegar
1 small cooked beet
24 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon
¼ bay leaf
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. mustard

Stick four cloves into each egg; mix seasonings and moisten with enough cold vinegar to pour; heat the rest of the vinegar to the boiling point; add the spice and slowly the mixed seasonings; boil for a minute. Place eggs in a glass jar, pour the boiling mixture over them and cover closely. They will be ready to use in about two weeks.

Nice for picnics, as a garnish for broiled beef steak or as a colorful component of any salad with eggs. Sliced they present a colorful bulls-eye with a yellow center, ringed

STUFFED EGGS

6 hard-boiled eggs, without shells
1 tbls. melted butter
½ tsp. salt
3 tbls. minced ham
⅛ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. mustard
1 tbl. vinegar

Cut eggs into halves, crosswise or lengthwise. Remove the yolks and rub to a paste with the minced meat and seasonings; moisten with melted butter, and vinegar, form into balls the size of the yolk removed and pack into the space from which they were taken. Put over the other half and press together; roll each in a piece of paper napkin, twist the napkin at each end. A tablespoon of highly seasoned salad dressing may be substituted for the butter.

So much for picnic foods. We'll admit that recipe "language" has progressed in the last 50-plus years, but the appeal remains unchanged.

For a somewhat fancy breakfast, how about:

EGGS BEAUREGARD

4 hard-boiled eggs
6 squares buttered toast
⅛ tsp. pepper
1½ cups white sauce no. 2
¼ tsp. salt

Separate the yolks and whites; chop the eggs fine. Lay the toast on a hot platter, cover with the white sauce and sprinkle with the chopped whites. Press the yolks through a ricer, sprinkle lightly over the chopped whites. Add the seasonings before serving.

SCALLOPED EGGS

6 hard-boiled eggs
2 cups white sauce No. 2
½ cup cracker crumbs
1 tsp. chopped parsley
4 tbls. butter
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Mix the cracker crumbs in the melted butter; slice the eggs into a buttered baking pan, add seasonings and the parsley minced fine; pour the white sauce over the eggs and sprinkle the top with the buttered cracker crumbs. Cook in moderate oven for 10 minutes. Use 1 cup scalded oysters to alternate with eggs, if desired. Two tbls. cheese or 1 tsp. juice may be substituted for parsley.

CURRIED EGGS

6 hard-boiled eggs
1 cup curry sauce
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Cut the eggs in halves, slice enough of the white off the end of each to make them stand upright. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Serve on a hot platter with sauce poured around them.

WHITE SAUCE NO. 2

2 tbls. butter
½ tbls. flour
1 cup milk
¼ tsp. salt, speck pepper

Melt butter, add the flour mixed with seasonings and stir until thoroughly blended. Pour on the milk, one-third at a time, stirring until well mixed, and cook until smooth. Milk may be cold or scalded.

For Curry Sauce, mix white sauce No. 2 with 1 tsp. curry added to seasonings.

"MEMOS" FROM YOUR Stylist

By: MR. ROBERT

Don't think that cold cream is a modern beauty aid; it was known to the early Romans.

Cleansing creams are those used to remove makeup and have a high mineral oil base. Vanishing creams use less grease and thus tend to melt much faster. Good creams being much heavier must be massaged in.

Creams with a lanolin base are a good bet as this additive is much like the oils in the skin and has qualities of absorption.

A good bet—in fact, your best bet—for most any beauty attention is MR. ROBERT'S SALON OF BEAUTY. Hair styling, in particular, is a specialty. Trained operators and stylists, the equal of any for many miles around, are ready to serve you at MR. ROBERT'S SALON OF BEAUTY, 198 School St., Phone WY 2-1717.

Order Death Probe for SSF Infants

Coroner's inquests have been scheduled for April 23 to determine the cause of deaths of two infant sons of a South San Francisco couple. The boys died of head injuries 18 months apart.

The children were Mark and Stefan Calabretta, sons of Mario and Joyce Calabretta of 36 Clara avenue. Mark, who was one year old, died May 14, 1961, in Mary's Help Hospital in San Francisco. Stefan, one month old, died November 8, 1962. He was dead on arrival at Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco.

Coroner Paul B. Jensen said autopsies showed that both children died of brain injuries. Mark had a bruise on his chin but the other child had no external evidence of injury.

Jensen said after the death of the first child, a thorough investigation was made by the South San Francisco police department and the district attorney's office.

No one could explain how the child was injured. The mother, the coroner said, conjectured that the boy fell over a toy in his crib.

The father, Jensen reported, agreed to take a lie detector test.

Something for Everyone

By Samuel Chandler

It has been charged that science fiction is pessimistic, offering no hope that man will conquer himself though he learns to control the universe.

This is a generalization that does not apply to some writers of science fiction. Indeed there are men who write because they believe that mankind can learn to improve himself. The position is summarized by the American, Ray Bradbury, "Science fiction and fantasy offer the liveliest, freshest approaches to our problems today."

Mr. Bradbury seeks to hold a mirror before the ugliness of our times and warn us that this must be conquered or else it mill make a nightmare of the future.

To Mr. Bradbury, then, science fiction is a hammer. He writes, "I intend to use it when and if necessary to bark a few shins or knock a few heads, in order to make people leave other people alone." He believes that the most crucial battles of today are those which establish freedom from fear and from thought control.

Arthur Charles Clarke, is a British scientist who uses science fiction as a vehicle for expressing philosophical ideas regarding the "end of man." His work is allegorical with monsters representing the enormity that today's problems will assume if they are not solved. Among these problems are man's inhumanity to man and the lack of high seriousness into contemporary living.

C. S. Lewis uses satire and irony in his science fiction to expose incorrect positions assumed by today's institutions. One of his chief concerns is the future of Christianity. He sees it as a road to self-mastery and true joy that is being over organized and employed by some men with evil intentions.

Bradbury, Clarke, Lewis and others like them are serious authors with a message for our times that should not be brushed aside with generalizations that seem to characterize the majority of the writers of science fiction.

Sacramento Report

Highway Extension

Meetings of a "cooperation" committee composed of San Francisco and San Mateo County representatives has resulted in a bill, which would extend the new east-west lateral (229) in San Bruno to the proposed Bay Front freeway.

This short extension, which currently terminates at Bayshore Freeway, will serve several purposes. First, it will relieve Bayshore of the heavy airport-shop traffic by routing vehicles over the top of Bayshore. Secondly, it will conduct the proposed Bay Front freeway with Bayshore, El Camino and serve as a part of the new route to Half Moon Bay.

Cal-Vet Loans

I have a number of inquiries concerning the status of the Cal-Vet housing loans. Two years ago, the legislature established a permanent moratorium on this type of loan. Many have thought this was a prelude to the abandonment of the program, which was established shortly after World War II. Joseph Farber, State Director of Veteran Affairs, said there is no definite date set for termination, and none will be set without very careful legislative review. This will bear careful watching.

Olds Will Sponsor Mechanics Workhops

LANSING, MICH. — Oldsmobile Division will sponsor a series of workshops at GM Training Centers across the nation this summer for high school instructors of auto mechanics classes.

These sessions, conducted by Oldsmobile training center personnel, are designed to assist the teachers in their presentation of the latest methods and techniques in automobile repair and maintenance.

The workshops, one and two weeks in length, will cover such subjects as the automotive electrical system, automatic transmission, air conditioning, power steering and power brakes. During the workshop the teachers will have an opportunity to work with and become familiar with this equipment. They will receive similar training to that given Oldsmobile dealer mechanics.

The workshops, to begin in June, will be held in major cities from coast to coast. In some states, the teachers receive college credit for attending these workshops.

Local Man Wiss Safety Award

Awards honoring Greyhound driver J. S. Backer of Colma, who has driven more than 750,000 miles over a ten year period without an accident, have today been authorized by Stan A. Ossman, director of safety for Greyhound's western division.

The honors take the form of a safety award certificate, a uniform emblem indicating the number of years of safe driving, and a gold watch. Presentation of the awards to Backer are to be made at a forthcoming safety meeting of Greyhound drivers in this area.

Auto Mechanics Career Urged for Hi School Students

An official of American Motors Corporation today urged mechanically inclined high school students to strongly consider the field of auto mechanics as a career.

J. F. Buck, service promotion and training manager of American Motors, said he recommends auto mechanics because of its good pay and working conditions and because it provides a good background for those interested in the auto industry as a career.

"A great many dealers and many company officials started in the 'backshop'," Buck said. "In fact, Roy Abernethy, the president of American Motors, started as an apprentice mechanic before switching to sales. It's an excellent training ground. However, I'm not recommending it merely as a stepping stone. It's a career in itself."

"But the prestige of a good mechanic is rising to the point where it should be. Gone are the days of the dingy back-alley shop and the poorly trained 'grease-monkey.' Today's car repairmen must be highly skilled technicians capable of keeping abreast of the many advances in the auto industry. No longer can he do a job with a wrench and a guess. Today he has modern testing equipment, special tools, excellent and detailed service manuals and clean, spacious working conditions.

""That's why we prefer to use the term 'service technicians' instead of 'mechanics.'"

SAFE DISTANCE

Always follow that car ahead at a safe distance, advises the National Automobile Club.

WATCH THOSE FLASHING LIGHTS

Among the many gadgets that have been installed on the modern car to make motoring both easier and safer is that set of lights that you can start flashing to let other drivers know when you are about to turn to the right or to the left.

This would all be very well, points out the National Automobile Club, if the lights were always used as they are supposed to be used, but such is just not the case. All too often the wrong light is flashed, a light is left flashing when it should have been shut off, or is not flashing when it should be flashing. This sort of thing can easily lead to confusion, and confusion to collision.

How are you when it comes to flashing light? Do you do it right?

What Every Woman Should Know About Her Automobile

By WENDY WHEELER

Auto-Torium Feminine Driving Consultant

My family often accuses me of having eyes in the back of my head, especially when they're doing something they KNOW they're not supposed to be doing (my family that is, not my eyes). And without a doubt my family gets into enough mischief to keep ninety-nine eyes busy! Be that as it may, I hereby solemnly declare that I do not have four eyes. Just two—and they're both where they belong. Heaven only knows, though, how often I've wished I did have eyes in the back of my head... especially when I'm trying to enter or leave one of those superhighways I was talking about last week.

You know, you really do need keen eyesight to watch the cars behind you, in front of you and on either side when your're trying to make a turn-off. And you can't slow down or stop to think the matter over! It wasn't always that way . . . on the old highways, you were supposed to slow up, but now you're literally putting your life on the block if you don't keep up with the pace. Mind me, I don't mean you should try to maneuver one of those cloverleafs at 70 MPH, but I do say that you shouldn't slow down until you're in the "deceleration lane." And when you do make it to the ramp, slow down quickly because after you've been driving at top speeds, 45 MPH feels more like 10 MPH, and that's way too fast. You'll find the safe speed limit posted on the exits, and if you abide by them you might avoid trouble (like ending up going west in the east-bound lane)!

If by some chance you miss your turn-off (it's happened to me), for the sake of the rear end of your car, don't stop or try to back up. The most frequent turnpike accidents are rear end collisions. If you've goofed, then you'll just have to drive on to the next exit and get to your destination a little late. Sometimes you see some interesting country that way, though. It isn't as if you have a choice about stopping — the law states that you may only stop in an emergency—and even then, you must get as far over on the shoulder of the road as possible.

There's a completely new philosophy behind expressway driving. When I learned how to drive (back in 1900) you stopped, looked both ways, and entered the road only when the traffic was clear. It ain't so anymore! Today's super pace has spread to the superhighways . . . the aggressive driver is the more welcome one. As you approach merging traffic nowadays, you should look to see if there's a tiny opening where you can squeeze in safely, and then give it the gun! The object of this game is to get out in the main stream of traffic before someone runs you over . . . a little like Russian Roulette, if you ask me . . . and the best way to do it is to enter the road at the same speed at which the other cars are moving. You pick up your speed in the "acceleration lane," not when you're on the highway. It does make sense to do it this way, I must admit, but I still get a little shaky when I'm pushing down on the accelerator and heading right into a mass of moving automobiles . . . !

Anyone want to help me bring back stagecoaches?

(Free copies of Wendy Wheeler's informative and entertaining booklet, "What Every Woman Should Know . . . About Her Car," may be obtained at any Auto-Torium Store, or by writing to her in care of this newspaper).

Free Traveling

Free traveling is now part of the used car business. Paul Felton's British Motor Cars, 7555 Misison St., Daly City, is giving a free trip with every used car sale ranging from round trips to Lake Tahoe to trips to Mexico City and Acapulco. All trips are round trips by air on a major air line. Some cars even include free hotel suites and steak dinners.

Owner Paul Felton says this new approach is good advertising and is particularly appealing at this time of the year when most people are thinking of vacations. There is no gimmick involved and ready financing is available on all sales.

B.M.C. in 2nd Place At Auto Show

NEW YORK, April 12 — The British Motor Corporation will open its exhibit at the 1963 International Automobile Show tomorrow with the best record of improved sales of any of the major imported car manufacturers.

The latest R. L. Polk & Co. registration figures showed BMC sales up 29 per cent for the first two months of 1963 over the same period last year, despite the dock strike earlier this year. The BMC total of 3,328 registrations moved Britain's leading auto maker into second place in the imported car field, edging out Renault. The MG marque held down third place on its own.

H. J. L. Suffield, new head of BMC operations in North America, said, "We are pleased with results so far this year. The enthusiasm of the public, our dealers and our distributors indicates that we have only started toward our goal of doubled sales for BMC for 1963 over 1962." Your local MG dealer is Paul Felton British Cars, 7555 Mission St., Daly City.

WHAT SMOKE MEANS

Color will identify the cause of the smoke coming from the exhaust of your car, points out the National Automobile Club.

A bluish or gray smoke is traceable to an excess of oil getting past the piston rings. A black smoke means there is too much gasoline in the mixture.

WHAT'S DOING
T. P. Coyne, your Telephone Manager in Daly City

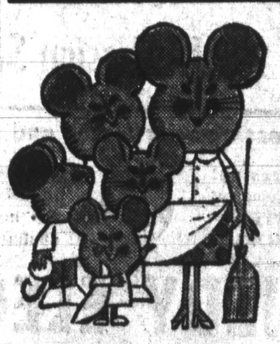
Shown at the left is a new public telephone that tells the operator electronically how much money has been deposited... you don't hear any gongs or chimes. Other new features are a single slot for nickels, dimes and quarters, and handset (or receiver) placement similar to a home wall phone. The streamlined new coin phone started making its first appearance in some locations in California in March.

Our changing times: The first telephone ad in 1877 offered for rental "telephones for the transmission of articulate speech through instruments not more than 20 miles apart." Today you can reach 140,000,000 phones...some 98% of all the telephones in the world.

"Money at work means men at work" is the slogan of Invest-in-America Week, April 28 to May 4. Investing in America may seem like a big order. But actually it's a matter of looking at it the way the Invest-in-America Council does. They say: "All over America people are saving and investing, providing the capital needed for more schools, homes and factories. These things, in turn, lead to more jobs, more opportunity, and better living for everyone."

INVEST IN AMERICA

Each year several hundred school children are escorted through our Central Office Building at 359 Washington Street, Colma.
We are always anxious to show you what it takes to give good telephone service.
If you are interested in a tour of our facilities, call me at GArfield 1-9000.



I recently heard about one of our repairmen who was called in to investigate some mysterious noises coming out of a Teletypewriter machine. It didn't take him long to locate the trouble. It seems that a family of field mice had taken refuge in a cozy nest of paper in the machine.

Bell Ringer March Planned For Mental Health Week

"Today there is unparalleled unity of community, state and national forces in joint effort to bring significant progress in the fight against mental illness," stated Ernest Norback, San Mateo attorney, president of the San Mateo Mental Health Association, as he announced the local plans for the 1963 Bell Ringer March for Mental Health.

"President Kennedy's special Mental Health Message to Congress of February 5 was the first by a president on this subject. The American Medical Association has strongly supported the president's plan to emphasize prevention, treatment, and rehabilitation at the local level. This sets the focus action right here in San Mateo County, where we live," he continued.

The fund-raising drive of the San Mateo County Mental Health Association will begin May 12 to continue through May 18. This a part of the nationwide campaign of the National Association for Mental Health.

The local Mental Health Association plays an active community role in the fight against mental illness in many ways. Its program of education is headed by a thirty-man speakers bureau, available to any group upon request. It maintains a library of mental literature which is available to any individual or group. It has a referral service by which people needing help are directed to the appropriate agencies. It directs a new volunteer program at Agnews State Hospital, and works closely with the auxiliary to San Mateo Mental Health Programs, a group which gives direct volunteer time to San Mateo County Mental Health Services. It also is actively concerned with the passing of legislation in the state government to promote care and treatment of the mentally ill.

Offices of the Mental Health Association are maintained at 18 Second avenue in San Mateo.

The National Association for Mental Health has 47 state divisions and 1,000 chapters in every part of the United States. This is the only national citizens' voluntary organization carrying on the total fight against mental illness. Its Research Foundation is doing work in childhood mental illness as well as the entire mental health research field.

Of the funds collected in San Mateo County drive, 60% will remain in the local organization. 20% is sent to the National Association, and the remaining 20% is used at the state level.

ERNEST NORBACK, president of the San Mateo Mental Health Association starts the bell ringing for the groups annual march.

Pick and Shovel

We recently received a communication from the United States Chamber of Commerce, in which they stated their opposition to the government program for the establishment of Youth Conservation Camps, as a means of relieving the rather serious unemployment rate among the nation's youth.

We were surprised at this position, for we had considered that this was a worthy and worthwhile program, which would provide a useful outlet and occupation for the idle youths, and direct them away from the obvious pitfalls of idleness.

The Chamber points out, however, that merely banishing these youths to the woods for a pick and shovel tour, would leave them no better prepared for home town jobs than before. In fact, they claim, postponement of the day they can get jobs and start careers might hurt them.

The answers involve programs, they say, to prevent high school dropouts.

"The heart of the unemployment problem is the uneducated and unskilled who are not wanted for jobs," the report says. "There are plenty of jobs for the skilled and educated."

While we would agree with the need to try and keep students in school until graduation, and to impress upon them the value of an education in this highly complex, competitive society, this hardly seems the answer for those who have already left school and who consider themselves too old to return.

We do not hold with the Chamber that the passage of time in a youth camp would not be beneficial—the maturing and sobering process which would take place during such a period would in itself make a youth more employable at the end of his tour of duty than at the beginning — and especially so if there were some educational opportunities provided during his stay in the camp.

Keeping kids in school should be the first objective, but for those who in the haste and passion of youth fail to realize the importance of education, there must be some means devised to help them rectify the error once it is discovered, and to occupy them in a constructive way while they gain the maturity to realize what a serious error has been made.

First Get A Pig . . .

Now that the sprouts are springing, you may be interested in knowing that you don't really have to have pesticides to combat the farmer's, horticulturist's and gardener's natural enemies —from alfalfa weevil to zinnia leaf-blight.

These non-chemical defenders, developed over untold centuries, have been rediscovered and classified by the research department of one of the biggest producers of agricultural chemicals in the world, which has long devoted itself to the welfare of the farmer and the nourishment of the American people. You may, therefore, place complete reliance in the authenticity of these findings — as far as they go. However, since Stauffer advises that the use of these historic aids may seem a little awkward by modern standards, we will restrict this discussion to a basic, startling assortment which should include:

One hog—to uproot cutworms. Never mind what else he uproots, he's non-toxic.

One shrew (hard to find these days, but worth the search)—to consume Japanese bettles and grubs.

One Baltimore oriole — to handle the hairy caterpillar problem.

One pair of flickers — for ants.

One gallon raw cucumber skins—for ants if really bad. Scatter skins and steamed bone-meal over your acres. (Use oil of sassafras if the hog has uprooted the cucumbers.)

Dry bran—for potato beetles. Sprinkle on vines while still wet with dew.

Assorted frogs, toads, bats and mice—for a variety of insects, squash bugs, rose beetles, caterpillars and 57 others.

One lacewing fly (larval stage) — for plant lice. Devours them like crazy.

Several packets nasturtium seeds — for aphids. Apple growers will find that plenty of nasturtiums planted around each tree will spoil the taste of the sap from an aphid's point of view.

Note: Quantities of the above requirements will vary widely with acreage, nature of crops and whether you get 'em planted or not. But you'd better start collecting now. Spring-fever may be here before you can get those cucumbers peeled!

The View From . . . Behind the Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

Crimes Known to the Police . . .

The Federal Bureau of Investigation publishes statistics in which they list, among other things, certain crimes such as burglary, robbery, rape, and others. These are what the FBI terms as "crimes known to the police."

Obviously, it would not be possible to truthfully or accurately endeavour to list "crimes not known to the police." At least, it would not be possible for any police agency to list crimes unknown to them.

They do, then, list, rather accurately, crimes known to the police. This is one of the sources by which it can be determined whether and how much crime is on the upswing for any given period of time.

Crimes Known to the Citizens . . .

If it were possible for all citizens groups to get together and compare notes, without the police being present, then it would be possible to publish statistics on "crimes not known to the police."

Such a set of statistics would come much closer to representing the true crime picture in the nation and in any given area. The given area with which we are concerned is, of course, Daly City and peripheral sections. Such information would, by giving this clearer picture, allow for proper police strategy and tactics to be employed against such a clearer, more realistic overall picture of the situation.

Is Every Crime Known ? ? ?

Every crime, without exception, is known to someone. The crime may be known to witnesses who have not come forward with the information. The crime certainly is usually known to the victim, who has not reported it. Failing the first two situations, which is possible though not necessarily probable, the perpetrator of an offense certainly knows of his misdeed, unless he is a drooling idiot. In this latter case, the crime is known to him, though he may not realize that he has done wrong.

Well, so what? So the perpetrator of a crime knows about it. Do we expect him to turn himself in?

Although this would be helpful to the police, it is expected in most cases that the responsible person will not turn himself in. This is just the way things go, and usually the police do not expect this.

The strange thing is, though, that in cases where a responsible person has turned himself in, because of remorse, or fear, or something, it has often been difficult or impossible to make a case. This is so because the witness has not come forth with his information. This is so because the victim has not reported the crime.

The Witnesses . . .

The witnesses who do not come forth with that information use the excuse of "I don't want to get involved." (They are already involved).

They say "It's none of my business anyway;" (No, not until the witness, himself, becomes a victim at another time, and then he is involved, and he does want "action").

Sometimes it's "I'm afraid of revenge on the part of the perpetrator." (So the suspect remains free, and there is no victim's revenge either).

The Victim . . .

This worthy could not, of course, report a homicide case—but he could report any other. Sometimes he doesn't because of fear, or shame, or because he was victimized at vice and does not dare report it.

Obviously, this leaves the person who preyed upon him free to attack other victims. This also might well leave a key piece absent from the crime mosaic. Where the police might otherwise have solved a series of a type of crimes, the whole kit and kaboodle of them remain open because of the absent bit of information and description.

The Police . . .

Law enforcement is largely an information business. As in any business, the product is to a large part dependent upon the raw material. In this case the raw material is information. The police receive much, probably most of the information; they do not receive nearly as much as there exists, however.

Some citizen has, in every case, information of a crime. If we subtract the probability of the responsible volunteering information, we have yet a large gap of information that victims and witnesses could fill us in on.

After all, citizens and taxpayers, you are paying for the cost of these crimes.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Prescribed Diet: Less Government

Proclamation of PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

April 22 - 26, 1963

The most vital force in equipping this nation's children and youth to meet the many challenges of the future is the American system of free public education. The schools of this nation, this state and this community offer equal opportunity to every child, essential to the preservation of freedom. The California state constitution establishes public education as the first business of the state.

The California Grand Lodge of Masons initiated and sponsored Public Schools Week forty-four years ago to alert citizens to the needs of their schools.

Soaring enrollments caused by the population explosion and by breakthroughs in many fields of knowledge are challenging education in a race against time to keep pace with the rapidly changing world while still maintaining the aim for excellence.

Citizens of this state have never been more vitally interested in the progress and problems of their public schools. Their moral and financial support is necessary in the tremendous task of educating and preparing young people for their roles as responsible members of a free society.

Therefore, I do hereby proclaim April 22-26 as Public Schools Week in Daly City, and urge all citizens of this community to exercise their rights and responsibility to acquaint themselves first hand with the facts about their schools so that all of us may justly evaluate their achivements, wisely provide for their needs, do our part in strengthening understanding and appreciation of the high standards of California's public education and reaffirm our interest in helping to preserve "the public schools, symbols of freedom."

JOSEPH J. VERDUCCI,
Mayor of the City of Daly City.

Affairs Of State

By Henry C. MacArthur

Once again, the issue of capital punishment is before the California assembly, as it has been for the past sessions of the legislature since 1927. And from all indications, the anti-gassing bill will come booming out of the assembly, and find defeat in the state senate.

This has been the history of attempts to abolish capital punishment for these many long years, but the abolitionists never stop trying. They are forward as usual, with the old and ancient arguments, and the proponents also use the same archaic arguments to keep capital punishment in effect.

It is small wonder that individuals who have been around the capitol for some 40 years, and are forced to listen to these arguments every two years, are somewhat tired of the attempts to change the law.

Actually, it probably will never be settled one way or the other until it is submitted to a vote of the people, which is proposed in a bill by Assemblyman Don Mulford (R-Berkeley). Until the people of California have an opportunity to vote on the issue of whether they want to kill criminals, or let them live in confinement the rest of their natural lives, the issue will remain one of great consequence, as each new generation of legislators come along with varying views on the subject.

The time that has been wasted in arguing the question of capital punishment over a perio of years, since 1927, amounts not to days, but actually to months.

Many proponents of abolition will say that the time has not been wasted, but has been used to educate the people to a higher level of civilization.

Capital punishment is, in fact, a relic of the pre-civilization days. When a member of the tribe transgressed the rules, and endangered the lives of other members of the tribe, he was put to death. Early day man didn't bother about trials,, lawyers, judges, etc., but punishment was executed in a hurry, usually to protect the safety of the tribe.

This procedure lapped over into our own country, when horse thieves summarily were strung over alimb of the nearest tree, for the most part without trial or representation. In the process, many an innocent individual was executed in the name of protection for the community and the way of life in those early days.

However, the picture is changed at the present time. Society calls itself civilized, an therefore affords each and every accused criminal the full protection of the law. The criminal is not tortured physically, but no one will ever know what torture he goes through mentally while waiting his turn in the gas chamber.

On the other hand, there still is the menace to society of those who have transgressed, and broken the hard and fast rules set up for the protection of the majority. It is easy to say let the transgressor live in custody, and he will no longer be a menace, but, once the proponents of abolition obtain life imprisonment for high crimes, the next step will be parole. And with parole, comes the menace of the criminal once again loosed on an unsuspecting public.

Perhaps the fact that there are so many arguments on both sides of the capital punishment question is what keeps it alive and before the legislature. While it is not a question to be dealt with lightly, it is a question which should be settled once and for all by a majority of the people in the state of California.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Mr. Harrah:

I want to express my personal appreciation and that of the church council and congregation for your printing of the article on the history of Westlake Lutheran Church in last Wednesday's edition.

Certainly the article with its picture of the church was of significant help to us in getting our story before the public. Your whole series is a contribution to the community's growing knowledge and understanding of itself. And a mature self-consciousness is vital for the life of any community.

Let me express also my appreciation and respect for your editorials. Though I may not always agree, I respect the man who takes a thoughtful and knowledgeable stand.

Sincerely yours,
KENNETH D. HANSEN,
Pastor.

Dear Mr. Harrah:

I would like to thank, and congratulate you and your staff on the good job they do with the teen and school news. I am 13 years old and go to Colma School. Also, I am a member of the Majestics Jr. Teen Club.

Most of the time there are articles of the events that go on in these and so many other places.

Thanks again for your interest in us kids.

Sincerely yours,
Lewis Bronfeld

TV and RADIO

Little girls in pigtails, bouffant party dresses, white Mary Janes — little boys in white shirts and bow ties as "Miss Nancy" (Nancy Besst) and "Romper Room" (weekdays, 11 a.m., KTVU) celebrated their birthday with a gala on-the-air party with a hugh birthday cake. (Helping Miss Nancy celebrate were two little Daly City girls, Connie McGuirk and Lisa Kelly).

This is the fifth anniversary on television for the excellent children's program that has a devoted following among the tricycle set. Television programs come and go but one that will probably be celebrating for many years is "Romper Room." In the first place there are so few daytime television programs for pre-school youngsters. Secondly, many of the programs are purely entertainment while "Romper Room" skillfully combines entertainment and education. Youngsters are taught good manners, consideration for others, enjoy music and singing and generally have a lot of fun. Also Miss Nancy does not forget the children watching at home but brings them into the show by calling out their names and encouraging them to participate in the activities right along with the children on television.

Altogether it is a delightful show and we wish it and Miss Nancy many more "Happy Birthdays."

NEWS BRIEFS: Good news from KGO-TV is the announcement of San Francisco's first local golf series titled "California Golfers" filmed at local courses to be shown on Sat. (2:30 p.m.) and Sun. (12 noon). The first match was at Lake Merced golf course.

Two-hour production filmed at Spoleto, Italy, Rossini's opera, "Count Ory" will be telecast over KQED, April 17, 10 p.m.

Colorcast titled "Private Plane Paradise" with special guest Bing Crosby escorting viewers around the grounds of his home in Las Cruces, Mexico, as well as scenes of Baja, Calif. on KPIX's "Across the Seven Seas" (April 18, 7 p.m.).

New panel discussion program on controversial matters to be seen Mondays over KRON-TV at 10:30 p.m.

Sacramento Report

By SENATOR RICHARD J. DOLWIG

SOUTHERN CROSSING— A new bridge which would connect the East Bay with the West Bay has been determined a "must" in a recent report by Norman C. Raab, projects engineer, Division of San Francisco Bay Toll Crossings. As a result of this report, Governor Brown called a conference of the five Bay Area Senators to set up a Bay Area committee to explore the situation and make a recommendation to the legislature for construction of a Southren Crossing. The meeting was a success and the Senators will meet again shortly to formalize the committee.

SOUTHERN BARRIER — One of the important phases of a new Southern Crossing is the consideration of the Army Corps of Engineers study of the feasibility of a Southern barrier, which would serve as a bridge, and as a barried to make the South end of San Francisco a fresh water lake.

PARAKEET BANDING — It seems ridiculous at first glance that such an innocent little bird as a parakeet requires legislation, and that such legislation is the inspiration of the Department of Public Health. During the last session a bill was passed requiring all parakeet breeders to tag their week-old birds with a legband provided by the Department of Public Health at the cost of three cents each. The band, which stays with the bird all its life, separates the domestic bird from imported Mexican birds, which often carry "parrot disease." Now the breeders feel that the price per band should only be one cent—thus Senate Bill 635.

Western Scene For Germany

The mayor of Worms, Germany, will get his wish for a "wild and wooly Western scene" through the spare-time art work of George E. Smith, 132 Fairlawn drive, Daly City, sign painter at the Oakland Army Terminal, plant engineer division.

Major L. B. Landon, until recently head of this division and presently on duty in Germany, relayed the mayor's message to Smith on a Christmas card. The artist got busy at his home, and the 24"x30" painting, in a heavy driftwood-tone frame and stout pine shipping box, is now on its way to Germany.

An engraved metal plate on the frame reads: "Presented to the City of Worms for the splendid public relations between the people of Germany and the United States of America."

The picture will hang in the Worms city hall.

Locale of the scene is in the lava beds of Idaho, some 16 miles west of Idaho Falls, near where Smith was reared on the family ranch. In the foreground of the desolate, eroded area with its sparse vegetation a coyote brings a rabbit to its den as a mate stands watch on a nearby ledge. At the horizon are ragged, cloud-topped mountains that poured out the lava long ago.

Smith came to the Terminal in 1958. He has been a commercial sign painter for many years, and has paralelled this with his hobby of fine arts.

Many of his pieces are based on youthful memories of the Northwest, supplemented by photos made during vacation trips.

Foreign Students at Pacifica Meeting

The Pacifica Federated Women's Club will hold its April 16 meeting at 8 p. m. in the Terra Nova library.

Edna McDonald, program chairman, has announced that the guest speakers will be supplied by the American Field Service. This will be particularly interesting to the area as Pacifica has recently adopted an A.F.S. program, that is exchanging students with foreign countries.

Charlie Suendjjasmono, an Indonesian boy who is attending South San Francisco High School, and Pauline Hammel, an American, also from South San Francisco High School, will address the club members.

They will speak on the advantages of the exchange student program. After the program, the meeting will be held.

Water Safety Instructor Course at Jeff

Water safety instructor course will be given at Jefferson High School on Saturdays from 9-12 a. m. starting April 27 through June 8. Mike Orlich will be in charge of the course.

Prerequisites for registration is that a student is 18 years old and has a current senior life saving certificate. The course will be given in two phases, the second phase acting as a refresher course for water safety instructors who must renew their certificates.

Registration may be completed by calling the Red Cross at DI 3-4561.

Joe Robino Now Real Estate Broker

Joe Rubino, associate of Del Wilson at St. Francis Realty, 6656 Mission street, having successfully passed his real estate commission examination, is now a licensed real estate broker.

Pack 369 Holds April Meeting

Cub Pack 369 held its April pack meeting on April Fool's Day, but there was little fooling around. The boys have been very active this year and have many more activities in the planning stages.

Den 4 led the opening ceremony and presented the colors. Den 5 presented a short skit before turning the program over to Cubmaster Lorenzi for the presentation of awards.

The following boys received their Wolf badges: Mike Coleman, Dennis Gauterucio, John Caruso, George Petro, Steve Muellenkemp. Robert Peterson received his Bear badge.

Mike Coleman received a gold and silver arrow, as did Thomas Furrer. Daniel Wilson received a silver arrow. Robert Peterson and Steven Mueller were awarded assistant denner stripes.

Ray Hammond, Mike Coleman and Paul Picciau received pins for one year in the pack. Steve Waller received a two-year pin.

The following boys received their Webelos patch: James Green, Ray Hammond, Craig Paras and Paul Piccial. These boys are ready to start on the last period of Cubbing, which is a preparation for their graduation into the ranks of Boy Scouts. Steve Waller received the arrow of light for completing Webelo requirements and was graduated into Troop 369.

Walter Jebe, owner of Jebe's Photo Shop, 4661 Mission street, is now teaching a special course in the operation of a photographic retail store to retrain those people idled by automation, under the auspices of the Federal Manpower Redevelopment Act.

The course is being given at the Hayes building at old Lowell High School.

Skilled Greek artisans developed methods of working with clay that made Athens the pottery and creamic center of the Mediterranean area from the seventh to the fourth century B. C.

Serra Nursery

Vincent and Peter Tommaro,, brothers and co-owners of Serra Patios, 197 B street, Colma, are proud to announce this week the grand opening of their new business addition the Serra Nursery, pictured left and right. With the nursery, the Tommaros now have two full acres devoted to everything for the patio and garden.

Vince and Pete are residents of Daly City, and first opened their doors for business six years ago — doing cement contracting and later expanding to landscape and patio work and now the nursery.

The Tomarros have placed the nursery in the very capable hands of "Scotty" Young, who has been in all phases of horticulture since 1929, starting in his native Scotland. Scotty will be glad to help his customers with advice on their gardening problems and selecting plants and planning your garden.

Begonias and Other Bulbs for Summer

Some of the nicest things that happen to a garden in summer come from bulbs. Begonias, cannas, dahlias and gladiolus are all candidates for bloom during the warm months, and if you plant them now, you can enjoy them to the fullest.

The most exotic of these is the tuberous begonia in its myriad forms and colors. Tender beauties, begonias look as though they belong in a greenhouse. However, they do well in shaded borders and beds or in pots, where they can be moved around as the need for color arises. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests sinking pots full of blooming tuberous begonias in the ground to fill color-bare spot. Handled this way, they can also be removed and used on deck or terrace when you entertain.

Begonias are available for planting in three different ways. The tubers may still be purchased, though supplies of these are dwindling in nurseries. Tubers should be planted in flats or peat moss, leaf mold and a little sand until their tops have sprouted and developed leaves. When they are about three inches high, transplant them to the garden or to pots. C.A.N. nursreymen also offers tubers already started in containers for easy transplanting to your garden. The third way you'll find begonias is in seedling form. By April, supplies of begonia seedlings are available. They are cheaper this way, but not quite so floriferous the first year. Late into bloom, they bloom longer into fall than plants started from tubers, however.

Give tuberous begonias part shade. They don't like heavy shade and fail to develop strong growth or bloom when planted in it. An acid, well drained soil is best, and feeding with liquid fish at about three-week intervals is recommended.

Cannas, too, are wonderfully additions to the summer garden, being at their best in the warmest areas of the state. You see good plantings of them in some gardens near the coast, however, proving that they do well in almost every section of California. Along the coast, plant them in full sun.

Cannas have uses in the garden. Like gladiolus, which they faintly resemble at first glance, they can be used en masse in beds. Being tall, they are also good subjects for the rear of a sunny border. Don't string them out in borders, but clump them for best effect. Color selection is limited largely to pinks, reds, oranges and yellows, though a white form is available, too.

A bulb which really puts on a show from summer into fall is the dahlia. Available in many forms, from small pompons to large platter-size giants, the dahlia produces until frost cuts it short. For general garden use, the smaller dahlias are probably best, but every gardener owes himself at least a few of the tall, exhibition varieties.

Dahlia tubers should be planted about six inches deep and taller varieties should have stakes set beside the tubers when they are planted. Dwarf bedding dahlias are available in nursery flats, and should be used just as you might use petunias or other annuals for masses of color in beds.

Nature's Camel In Plant Life

Giant, ponderous, its great limbs cutting grotesque patterns against the desert sky, the saguaro grows abundantly in Saguaro National Monument just 17 miles east of Tucson in Arizona.

Currently to be found only in southern Arizona, northwestern Mexico, and two isolated spots in southeastern California, the saguaro is an impressive plant.

It starts from small beginnings, grows with a sedate slowness that takes it from 10 to 15 years to be big enough to be noticed and some 50 or 60 years before it begins to bloom or bear.

Once it has matured, however, it has massive bulk, sometimes reaching 50 feet in height, passing nine or ten tons in weight.

The maximum age of a saguaro is estimated to be about 200 years.

Supporting all this bulk and age is a shallow root system that spreads out in all directions for as much as 65 or 70 feet.

When the rare desert rain falls, this root system drinks up the water and channels it to the plant, which has an unusual arrangement for storing water.

The stem is composed of a skeleton of 12 to 30 slender vertical ribs supporting a mass of spongy tissue. When the water comes in, it is absorbed by this spongy tissue, the tissue expands, and the ribs expand to accommodate the tissue.

With this arrangement, a mature plant weighing from six to ten tons may take up as much as a ton of water after rain. If enough rain falls, the stem can split itself wide open.

Once the water is stored, the plant protects that water. Tiny prickly spines cover the stem and limbs and furnish shade and prevent excessive evaporation. They also protect the plant from animals that might eat it for the water it contains.

The blossoms of the saguaro are creamy white and appear in clusters at the end of branches in May and June.

In early days, Pima and Papago Indians used the fruit of the saguaro both as food and drink. Today, some small mammals and several species of birds use that fruit as food.

The saguaro can withstand long periods of drought, but sometimes a drought comes along that is almost too much for even the saguaro. At such times, the great arms droop and freeze in those grotesquely angular postures that can look so picturesque when silhouetted against the Arizona sky.

California Spring Garden Show

A small forest of coastal redwoods, ranging from 25 to 40 feet in height, has sprouted this week in the Oakland Exposition Building, forerunner of the California Spring Garden Show,, April 20 to 28 inclusive.

Fifteen pre-fabricated giant trees, coated with genuine redwood bark from the Mendocino coast, were hauled into the show area and hoisted by giant cranes manned by "indoor lumberjacks" into position designated by show designer, Howard Gilkey.

When fitted with realistic redwood branches they will become focal points of the '63 Garden Show scene spectacle —"Valley of the Giants"—representing the Redwood Empire at its springtime peak.

The complete Valley of the Giants panorama will include two gigantic waterfalls, pools, brooks and streams, as well as four acres of choice ferns and flowering plants and shrubs, with emphasis upon thousands of choice rhododendrons and azaleas cultivated in the Bay Area.

Tropical scenes with orchids displayed in profusion as if in their natural habitat, will supplement the Redwood Empire panorama, Gilkey said.

Gardener's Checklist

1. Plant hydrangeas for lavish summer display.
2. Plant fuchsias now. Try some of the hanging types in overhead containers.
3. Feed lawns now and go after any lawn weeds with a chemical control. Your nurseryman will recommend one.
4. Plant daylilies this month for late spring and early summer bloom.
5. Plant tigridia bulbs for mid-summer bloom. The triangular, spotted blooms are real attractions in July and August.
